

Dear Ansar Brothers,

As-Salamu 'Alaikum Wa Rahmatullah

Huzoor^{aa} said that for great and grand tasks, a large number of helpers were needed, and it was for this reason that prophets also asked “Who are my helpers (in the cause of) Allah?”

We could only be called true “Ansar” – helpers – of Allah when Ansar members understood the spirit of being a “helper of Allah”, Huzoor^{aa} said. Allah the Almighty has given the grand task of spreading the message of Islam to the Promised Messiah^{as} and his Jamaat – Ansarullah should be at the forefront of responding to this grand task with every fibre of their being.

Merely saying “we are Ansarullah” is not enough, and deep introspection was needed. It is not an easy task to spread the message of religion to the corners of the earth. This requires a constant connection with Allah, higher levels of taqwa, increasing knowledge and following all the commandments of Allah the Almighty. Therefore, we should introspect and ask ourselves whether we are trying to strive for this level of commitment. If this is not the case, then being called “Ansarullah” is futile. Hazrat Amirul Momineen^{aa} said that Ansarullah members should keep in mind that as their ages increased, the distance from death reduced. Therefore, it is essential they ponder over their state and self-reflect to see whether they were “Ansar” in the true sense.

May Allah the Almighty enable us to fulfil our duties with the best possible manner, make us the true “Ansar”, and grant us acceptance in His court, Ameen.

With deep respect and love for all of you my brothers,

Was-Salam,
